Passing (novel) - Wikipedia

Passing is a novel by American author Nella Larsen, first published in 1929, set primarily in the Harlem neighborhood of New York City in the 1920s, the story centers on the reunion of two childhood friends—Clare Kendry and Irene Redfield—and their increasing fascination with each other's lives.

CHURCH FATHERS: Confessions, Book I (St. Augustine)

Yet were we compelled to stray in the footsteps of these poetic fictions, and to turn that into prose which the poet had said in verse. And his speaking was most applauded in whom, according to the reputation of the persons delineated, the passions of anger and sorrow were most strikingly reproduced, and clothed in the most suitable language.

What Did Cedric Robinson Mean by Racial Capitalism

Cedric J. Robinson’s passing this summer at the age of seventy-five went virtually unnoticed. Professor emeritus of political science and black studies at the University of California, Santa Barbara, and arguably one of the most original political theorists of his generation, no major U.S. newspaper determined that Robinson’s passing merited even a single paragraph.

Live news, investigations, opinion, photos and video by the journalists of The New York Times from more than 150 countries around the world. Subscribe for coverage of U.S. and international news.

John le Carré’s aimless final novel - New Statesman

Oct 13, 2021 · Having been caught by the world-weary spymaster George Smiley, Bill Haydon, the Soviet double agent in John Le Carré’s Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy (1974), presents a long apologia for his betrayal. “We spoke out of the deserts of the Void, told of its depths by green and odd shapes.”

Terra nullius - Wikipedia

Bir Tawil is an example of a territory often claimed to be terra nullius. Between Egypt and the Sudan is the 2,060 km² (800 sq mi) landlocked territory of Bir Tawil, which was created by a discrepancy between borders drawn in 1899 and 1902. One border placed Bir Tawil under the Sudan’s control and the Halaib Triangle under Egypt’s; the other border did the reverse.

Race/Related - The New York Times

The 1966 convictions of the two men are expected to be thrown out after a lengthy investigation, validating long-held doubts about who killed the civil rights leader. By Ashley Southall and Jonah Crits and the Chinese Party-state

Oct 21, 2021 · Critical/Related Thinking on China. Critical theory borrows liberally from various anti-liberal thinkers, such as Karl Marx and Carl Schmitt, but what should critical legal scholarship on – and in – illiberal political regimes look like? This essay discusses the role of critical legal theory in the study of illiberal political regimes and the Chinese party-state, in particular.

Grendel Chapter 1 Summary & Analysis | SparkNotes

A summary of Part X (Section1) in John Gardner's Grendel. Learn exactly what happened in this chapter, scene, or section of Grendel and what it means.

Related: The New York Times

The New York Times

The New York Times

Live news, investigations, opinion, photos and video by the journalists of The New York Times from more than 150 countries around the world. Subscribe for coverage of U.S. and international news.

John le Carré’s aimless final novel - New Statesman

Oct 13, 2021 · Having been caught by the world-weary spymaster George Smiley, Bill Haydon, the Soviet double agent in John le Carré’s Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy (1974), presents a long apologia for his betrayal. “We spoke out of the deserts of the Void, told of its depths by green and odd shapes.”